ABOUT ME

I am a First-Class graduate of BA Hons Film Production, now a freelance Filmmaker as well as a Production Assistant for Film and Television. I am conscientious and polite and am willing to work hard and show initiative.

My passion has always been using my documentary story-telling skills to bring awareness to important social topics. Avon and Somerset Police have recently started using the documentary I directed about Clare's Law to train their disclosure officers and we hope to roll it out nationwide.

In my spare time, I create social media content for my TikTok audience, focussed mainly on raising awareness for, and discussing, domestic violence.
